FAIR TRADE

Come celebrate the spirit of Fair Trade

Fair Trade is a global movement that shares a vision of a world in which justice, equity and sustainable development are at the heart of trade structures and practices so that everyone, through their work, can maintain a decent and dignified livelihood and develop their full human potential. It contributes to sustainable development by offering better trading conditions to, and securing the rights of, marginalized producers and workers. Fair Trade is grounded in three core beliefs; first, producers have the power to express unity with consumers. Secondly, the world trade practices that currently exist promote the unequal distribution of wealth between nations. Lastly, buying products from producers in developing countries at a fair price is a more efficient way of promoting sustainable development than traditional charity and aid

Fair Trade is more than just trading:

- It proves that greater justice in world trade is possible.
- It highlights the need for change in the rules and practice of conventional trade and shows how a successful business can also put people first.

- It is a tangible contribution to the fight against poverty, climate change and economic crisis.
- It provides a fair price for goods and services, safe working conditions and a commitment to environmentally sustainable production.
- Fair trade practice supports welfare programs, education, healthcare and training for marginalized workers. Holistic approach makes Fair Trade unique and empowers disadvantaged communities to play an active part in their own development.
- It ensures accountability and transparency in the supply chain so consumers can be sure their product has been sourced ethically.

Fair Trade organizations have a clear commitment to Fair Trade as the principal core of their mission. They, backed by consumers, are engaged actively in supporting producers, awareness raising and in campaigning for changes in the rules and practice of conventional trade." They follow the 10 Principles of Fair Trade-

10 Principles of Fair Trade

Principle One: Creating Opportunities for Economically Disadvantaged Producers

Principle Two: Transparency and Accountability

Principle Three: Fair Trading Practices

Principle Four: Payment of a Fair Price

Principle Five: Ensuring no Child Labour and Forced Labour

Principle Six: Commitment to Non Discrimination, Gender Equity and Women's Economic Empowerment, and Freedom of Association

Principle Seven: Ensuring Good Working Conditions

Principle Eight: Providing Capacity Building

Principle Nine: Promoting Fair Trade

Principle Ten: Respect for the Environment

Fair trade empower the lives of millions of artisans and farmers. Today, the Fair Trade movement comprises over 4,000 grassroots organisations and their umbrella structures, representing 2.5 million small-scale producers and workers in over 70 countries. Over 1850 Fair Trade towns around the world are advocating Fair Trade. WFTO members alone account for a combined income of 778 millions Euros in Turnover/income.

Fair Trade an empowering tools for New India

As Nelson Mandela stated, "overcoming poverty is not a task of charity, it is an act of justice. Like Slavery and Apartheid, poverty is not natural. It is man-made and it can be overcome and eradicated by the actions of human beings. Sometimes it falls on a generation to be great. YOU can be that great generation. Let your greatness blossom." Let us take pledge in making India poverty free in the next five years.

Fair Trade is about giving marginalized producers a chance to succeed at the market place which generally excludes them and offers Fair Trade consumers the means to make their purchasing power a tool for real social and economic change, needed for the inclusive growth. Fair Trade organisations and their efforts are immensely useful in building Poverty free India. The Fair Trade movement will transform Indian landscape by building New India through Fair and Ethical Practices.

Fair Trade Forum-India (FTF-I), as the National Network of Fair Trade Organisations, sustained its existence despite massive policy changes, funding challenges, and the dynamic market practices. This has been a year of consolidation and preparation for FTF-I. Consolidating and converging with the national objectives and the preparation for WFTO Global Conference took top priority during the year. With a committed Executive Director joining the team, a small but effective National Secretariat is established. Executive Council, ED and NS Team made all efforts to serve the membership to the best of their abilities. On behalf of EC I would like to thank all our esteemed members and partners for the valuable support given throughout the year.

Our commitment to Fair Trade alongside the actions of thousands of others like US is making a big difference. Sales of Fair Trade products are growing every year, and the deepening commitment of organizations and individuals is testimony to Fair Trade's continuing success all over the world. Every purchase, action, and event supporting Fair Trade is a seed that cultivates a stronger and more cohesive movement. The real power to make change in the world comes from us- the people whose voices, votes, and values can influence decision makers to ensure a fairer set of rules in favour of marginalized and rural artisans, farmers and weavers. Let artisans, weavers and farmers be the champions of New India.

Towards The Fairer Future

FTF-I follows the mantra that the real growth occurs not at the finish line but during the journey. We try to find ways in which we can connect the artisans and small time designers to the mainstream market and help them to exhibit their work to the world while following the fair trade practices. Taking cue from the recent change in government policies and market practices, it is time that we start focusing on the development of the small entrepreneurs, women entrepreneurs and thus start at the grass-root level so that even the poorest of the poor are empowered.

We want to extend our expertise in creating skilled manpower, building vocational and technical training framework and skill up-gradation, building of new skills and job creation. Students all around the world volunteer for FTF-I to work in the less developed areas of the country to motivate women and encourage people with new business plans to put their ideas into work. FTF-I wants to lend a hand to government in its mission of poverty reduction, employment generation and development of skill sets. The Fair Trade Network is moving forward with a positive energy. Successful completion of the pilot phase of Integrated Skill Development Scheme, a project with the Ministry of Textiles, was the highlight of the year. We applied for the FK Norway South-South Exchange program, with the objective to exchange skills and knowledge on crafts processes with Bangladesh and started the feasibility stage of the project. We also entered into a lot of partnerships to facilitate capacity building and market facilitation for our members.

Looking back at a successful year, we thank all our members and supporters for their commitment with which we move forward into a fairer future.

Warm Regards

Ranvir Sushila Sisodia

PROLOGUE

For over one and a half decades now, Fair Trade Forum-India (FTF-I) has been working to strengthen the Fair Trade Movement in India. Globally there has been a slight shift in Fair Trade consumption pattern. From a history of the southern countries producing and exporting Fair Trade products to the western countries for consumption purposes, we now see the consumption opportunities increasing in the producing countries themselves. With the extension of the market through Indian-based consumption, a huge opportunity is opening up for Fair Trade in India. At the same time, there is an increased consciousness and interest, particularly among young people, to contribute to poverty reduction and environmental conservation and there is an openness to move towards ethical and sustainable businesses. FairTrade in India intends to succeed by sensitizing consumers and making them aware of the positive impact they can have by consciously purchasing their products. The upcoming World Fair Trade Week (WTFW) is an important opportunity to create consciousness amongst consumers, especially within India and therewith create more domestic markets.

Driven by a committed, collaborative environment rooted in the passion of its member organisations, FTF-I works persistently and consistently to realize its business philosophy with the aspirations of all its stakeholders. Our members work with artisans and weavers from urban slums, rural and extreme left wing effected areas of India. PROJECTS AND PARTNERSHIPS

Integrated Skill Development Scheme

FTF-I successfully completed the Pilot phase of Integrated Skill Development Scheme (ISDS)- a project of the Ministry of Textiles (MoT). It is an initiative taken by the Ministry of Textiles to provide high quality training to the youth of India working in the textile industry. Identified are the development needs within the industry.

The scheme seeks to assist the textile economy to meet the identified gap in social capital, by providing skill development to workers/artisans of organized and unorganized sectors, as well as focussing on the provision of employment to the trained candidates.

The project was undertaken with the cooperation of our honoured Executive Council members. FTF-I applied for the project as the lead partner of the consortium, with Janhit Kalyan Karyakari Shiksha Samiti (JKKSS) and Foresight Society for Human Resources and Development (FS-HRD) as Consortium partners. The memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with MoT was signed on the 16th December 2015. FTF-I is one of the very few selected civil society organisations, chosen by GOVT for this public private partnership. The consortium was given a target to enrol 1500 students by March 2016 and train them as Sewing machine operators. The project was undertaken as a basis for applying for a bigger project, whereby our members could be roped in to train their workforce.

The trainings for the Pilot phase were initiated on the 1st of March 2016 and completed by 31st of August 2016. The consortium trained 1500 candidates across 15 centres, spread within the states of Delhi, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal. The biggest volume of candidates was trained in Uttar Pradesh (1400), followed by 60 candidates in West Bengal, 40 in Haryana and 3 in Delhi. 1264 women were trained under this project.

Various companies, across the country willingly offered a placement to the newly skilled candidates. Out of 1500 trained candidates about 1070 were employed. Herewith FTF-I reached the condition given by the ministry of attributing a placement to at least 70%. The Consortium also took up a six-month tracking to check how many of the employed candidates were still in place. We are happy to announce that 80% of them are still employed and are leading a dignified life.

This also brought into the limelight- the sustainable models of entrepreneurship, innovative practices in inclusive development of artisans and different ways of scaling up small enterprises by exploring global markets.

The National Convention commenced with lighting up the lamp by all the dignitaries- Chief Guest- Mr. P. Muralidhar Rao, National General Secretary, BJP, Mr. Chandramouli, Chairman, South Zone, Khadi and Village Industries Commission (KVIC)-Mr. Jai-kanth Singh – Head, State and Citizen Engagement, NSDC, Ms. Roopa Mehta, WFTO and Mr. Chitra K.C., WFTO Asia and Mallikarjuna lytha, President of Fair Trade Forum-India..

The convention began with its focus on the importance of digitalization. The e-portal Myroots.desi was presented by Ms. Sreerekha Madivala, the Co-Founder; and a MoU was signed with FTF-I to promote Fair Trade products using digital marketing. Moreover, the teaser video for the 14th Biennial Global Conference was launched along with an exclusive website that was presented by Ms. Mehta. The conference, she said, represents an important moment, due to the growing relevance accorded to Fair Trade worldwide in sustainable development.

Mr. Chitra K. C. explained WFTO Asia's importance in providing access to the Guarantee System across 19 countries- a ten principles method that employs 75000 producers with a 150 million Euros annual turnover. Further, FTF-I initiatives on policy and advocacy in collaboration with the Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship were described by Mr. Mallikarjuna lytha. The convention was also the occasion to open new possibilities for collaborations, as with KVIC. Mr. Chandramouli stressed upon the need for skill development for capacity building. In addition, Mr. Jaikant Singh hailed the positive association of NSDC with FTF-I, a kind of synergy which is fundamental to scale up initiatives and to permit a large access to fair self-employment- a key variable for sustainability in India.

Finally, Mr. Muralidhar Rao, took the attention on the relation between trades and lifestyles. FTF-I should not be limited to selling of products and commodities but enact a change in people by shaping a market thought a dense product philosophy and boosting relevant lifestyles by adopting them.

The 'Shyam S. Sharma Memorial' Lecture was jointly conducted by Mr. David Wilcox, founder of Reach Scale and Dr. K. Panchaksharam who presented the bright figure of Mr. Sharma and his long experience with TARA Projects, WFTO and FTF-I. Then, Mr. Wilcox lead members through an analysis of the state of Fair Trade in India, where the numbers were considered underestimated. He expressed the need for networking activities as the groundwork to deliver products and to capture the global market, which is a necessary condition for any successful skill development program.

The second day of the Convention hosted 4 main discussions- Starting from LabourNet's business model presented by the C.E.O. Dr. Gayathri Vasudevan, connected to government and corporate sectors; it develops industry-integrated trainings for scalable and sustainable skill development. Then, the assembly analysed different ways for reclaiming economy for the people in a five-speaker Keynote session. Mr. Mazhar Hussain pointed out about this need for reclaiming passes through paradigm shifts that redesign an economy. Examples of this process are technology-led initiatives as 'School for Business on Streets' by Prof. Ramana which is technology-based decentralized skill training, accessible at Google Store for street vendors and 'Myroots.desi' which benefits technology support presented specifically by Ms. Madivala and Mr. Sanjay. All these efforts aim at creating an inclusive skilling ecosystem for which NSDC (Mr. Jaikant Singh) would be open to provide finance facilities and collaboration. Apart from that, Mr.Chitra K. C. shared an overview of the Guarantee system and its concrete value in pursuing an economy for the people.

The following session was on 'Successful social entrepreneurship' models. Innovative models were chaired by Mr David Wilcox that expressed the need for recognizing the talent of the underprivileged with opportunities for entrepreneurship, rather than connecting them with jobs. Ms. Uma Prajapathi presented the sustainable life-changing work of Upasana Design Studio and Paruthi, while Mr. K. S. Gopal described SVAR project, a highly water efficient irrigation system designed by the Centre for Environmental Concerns. Furthermore,

Mr. Yash Ranga spoke about the impact of Jaipur Rugs Foundation in helping weavers to go higher in the value chain and Mr. Marmik Joshi shared the "Craftroots" model to promote and save the traditional handicrafts through strategic marketing, by geo-tagging the product focus on artisan and craft stories.

In the fourth session, Ms. Patwira, Sustainability Coordinator of WFTO Guarantee System, made a detailed description of the system: about types and time frame of membership process and the need for strategy and organisation.

Lastly, Mr. Pradeep Krishnappa, Founder- The Ants, and Mr. Mathew John lead a session on branding and market intelligence stressing on the necessity to communicate the value to gain domestic market trust. Mr. Krishna Sagar Rao, author and motivational speaker, engaged the audience in a conversation around emotional intelligence, personal and professional effectiveness and the personal struggle for collective achievements.

The long collective work of the NC ended on the last day of the conference with the Annual General Meeting 2016. 130 participants from all over the country and from many fair trade and non-fair trade organizations attended the conference.

The FAIR TRADE INDIA brand was launched by FTF-I in the year 2010, under the Pro-Sustain project, supported by European Commission, to reach the domestic market with Fair Trade products and for Fair Trade awareness and promotion in India. The brand was developed to establish a significant and differentiated presence of FAIRTRADE in the market that attract and retain the loyal customers. It also provides a common identity to shops owned and operated by various Fair Trade organisations in India. It is the Commercial face of FTF-I under which the FTF-I member organisations are allowed to sell Fair Trade products to end customers, retail chains, corporate and institutions. Focused efforts are being put in on creating awareness about Fair Trade through Brand enhancement.
